Microsoft has been make a joke at the justice since the first indictment in 1993. Now they are punish by keeping the status quo. As a monopoply company they control the software market. Next thru their software they will control how any hardware will work and they will charge the people for that product as they wish. The infrastucture of the business software is Microsoft. Try to use another operation system & a none microsoft suite. I hope you will inject more competition is the system then we have now.
